Festival Committee Annual Meeting and Banquet

Get-Together Event Will Be Featured by Attendance of Many From Pass Towns

The executive and financial committee of the Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival at a meeting on Monday evening received the interim report of the secretary, Mrs. J. H. Farmer, covering the 1935 festival. Though admission receipts were lower this year than last, the number of entries were considerably increased. The festival showed a small surplus after meeting all expenses, and donations towards the association were well maintained.

A new departure for the annual meeting, to be held on Monday Dec. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenhill Grill, Blairmore, will be to have a banquet preceding the business session and election of officers. To this meeting will be invited town councillors, school trustees and all others besides the general committee, who may be interested in the splendid work achieved, particularly among the younger people, since the festival was organized in 1925.

Past presidents, including the founder of the festival, Rev. W. Y. ("Bill") Young of Edmonton, will be invited, and it is anticipated that this meeting will be a re-union as it were of those who throughout the ten years of its history have taken a part and pride in its development.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the executive committee, or direct from Mrs. J. H. Farmer, secretary, Blairmore, the fee being 75c.

Present at the executive meeting on Monday were W. Kerr, president; L. M. Morgan, J. E. Upton, Geo. Pattinson, Geo. E. Cruickshank, H. T. Halliwell, Miss Mae Powell, Miss Madeleine Chardon, W. H. Moser, Mrs. J. H. Farmer, sec.

Interesting Figures on Elections

Provincial Election;

Total votes polled ..... 302,000
Aberhart candidates ..... 164,000
Opposition parties ..... 134,000

Dominion Election (Alberta)

Total votes polled ..... 237,473
Aberhart candidates ..... 110,436
Opposition parties ..... 126,000

In Edmonton and Calgary in the Federal elections.

Aberhartists polled ..... 37,740
Opposition parties ..... 42,586

This proves that Aberhartists are in an electoral minority in these two important centres.

The figures serve to show the need for an improved system in electoral voting, when a minority vote, as in the Dominion election, can return 15 out of the 17 successful candidates.

64,000 less people voted in the Dominion Election in Alberta in the provincial election. Aberhartists received 53,000 less votes in the Federal than in the provincial election.

New Charge Against Koska

Criminal Charge in Place of Breach of Vehicles and Traffic
Act—Criminal Negligence is Alleged.

Charles Koska, driver of the auto in which Leona Cudmore was killed on Nov. 8 about 10 p.m. west of Coleman, appeared before Magistrate Gresham at Blairmore on Wednesday, when a charge under Sec. 248 of the Criminal Code was made in place of the charge under which he was originally released on $500 bail. The R. C. M. P. is conducting the prosecution.

F. O. McKenna, barrister, of Pincher Creek, defending Koska, asked for a remand, as he was not prepared to go under the new charge at this time. The new charge it is reported is for reckless driving and causing bodily harm. Koska's home is in Michel.

Canadians Give Rangers Stiff Battle on Calgary Ice

"Goalie" Scodellero and Jimmy
Joyce Draw a Big Hand From
Sports Commentators

COLEMAN's senior hockeyists burst into the limelight on Saturday night at Calgary's arena, leading into the third period by a score of 3-0, but Calgary evened the score by the end of the third, necessitating overtime, when the final result tallied 5-5.

The story has been well told in the dailies, and was eagerly read by all sports fans. Harry Scott, Albertan sports commentator, classed it as "dumb hockey," evidently displeased that Canadians should have tore into the Rangers and had them hopping for most of the game.

Jenkins went on a scoring spree sniping three of his team's five goals.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The editor is not responsible for opinions expressed in letters to the Press, and reserves the right to reject any communication submitted. Publication must not be taken as an endorsement of opinion or policies.—H.T.H.)

To the Editor:
The Social Credit people argue that banks in lending money are enjoying a private monopoly of a public asset, i.e., the credit of the country. I am not a specialist in banking, accounting, theology, engineering, social credit or evangelism, but it seems to me that application of horse sense to the question which is today so much in the eye of the public and of your correspondents will show the social credit people to be wrong.

The Douglasites appear to claim that my cash and that of all other people who have built up a bank account becomes in some mysterious way a national asset which belongs to the community. With that I vehemently disagree.

Owners of individual parcels of land have the only rights on the properties. They have, of course, the important right of leasing their own's rights to other people. But, except for non-payment of just debts, including taxes, no one on this earth has the right to take their property away from them, or to claim that the community share the ownership.

This condition is also true of bank deposits. My bank account, such as it is, is my own. I acquired it through the sweat of my brow. It is mine, like my 40-foot lot. It is not the public's, like High Park. I lease my cash to the chartered bank. They pay me rental at a low rate because they agree to give me possession on a moment's notice on any business day. In return for paying me rent for my money, the bank has the privilege of investing it in loans or otherwise. I leave the character of the bank's investment to the bank's discretion, because I have confidence in it.

If I lost confidence in the bank I would withdraw my money and deposit it elsewhere. The banks disburse the money of 4,000,000 other depositors like myself. They do not administer public assets, they administer assets belonging to 4,000,000 members of the public. To "nationalize" credit arising from bank deposits would be akin to confiscation of the deposits of these 4,000,000 depositors.

Yours very truly,
H. G. Robinson.

Election of Check-Weighman

William Carr, for about 12 years check-weighman at McGillivray mine, is resigning this post, and on Wednesday a pit-head ballot was held to elect a successor. Candidates nominated on Sunday at a meeting of contract miners were W. Chapman, who has been acting as weighman for the past two weeks; Dave Gillespie, a former secretary of the local union; J.T. Griffiths and Wm. Ireland.

Balloting resulted in W. Chapman receiving 64 votes. Dave Gillespie received 50, J.T. Griffiths 28 and Wm. Ireland 25.

Mr. Carr has not decided on his plans, but is considering removing to Vancouver, where he has relatives.

Crystal Arena Popular Resort

Improvements Add to Enjoyment of Patrons

COLEMAN's renovated arena rink, under the new leases, Alex. Easton and William Jenkins, will be the centre of increased activity this winter. Many improvements have been made, including waiting rooms newly painted, lights placed in the alleyways beneath the tiers of seats on each side of the rink, additional lighting in various places, and the levelling of the bed of the rink.

A refreshment stand, available (juniors.) from either the skating or curling rink, will prove a popular innovation. Season tickets will but as soon as it tightens up take the place of single admission winter sports will quickly get sion tickets, at a rate which will underwrite.

Difficult Problems

The problems which it may be expected will be discussed at the pending conference between representatives of the Federal government and premiers of the Canadian provinces will furnish plenty of material for conversations and negotiations.

If only one half of the difficulties which the western provinces have recently experienced and still are experiencing in finding sufficient revenue to maintain their ordinary services, to saying nothing of contributing substantially towards the cost of relief, can be removed a forward step will have been taken, and representatives of the provinces will leave Ottawa with something a little more tangible than hope for speedy recovery and for future progress.

One of the factors in the present situation that will have to be faced squarely is the fact that the cost of government is pressing heavily on the taxpayers, that there is just too much money available for the upkeep of services and that a shifting of burdens from one unit to another is not the way out of the trouble, though it may be a temporary palliative.

If several buckets are dipping water out of a well which is not being replenished from natural sources it is only a question of time when the well will run dry, and in the long run it does not make very much difference which of the buckets took most of the water out of the well.

That is actually the position of the taxpayer in western Canada. There are three buckets drawing on his resources, the federal, the provincial and the municipal, the last-mentioned, of course, including the schools.

The permanent solution of the difficulty lies not so much in a decision as to who is to be allowed to draw the most, or the least, water from the well but how the well is to be replenished, and until this can be determined, those in authority will have to address themselves to the task of finding ways and means of conserving the presently available supply and making the utmost of it.

There are many ways in which a conservation policy might be put into effect and one of the most practicable would be to eliminate a good deal of duplication and overlapping of services which have grown up, apparently without any blame attachable to any one in particular for the situation.

There are, for example, services which are being provided by both federal and provincial governments resulting in double costs for machinery and operation, in addition to a degree of confusion and ineffectiveness attendant upon two unrelated organizations trying to reach the same good by different roads.

In this category might be included debt adjustment machinery and to some extent agricultural services rendered by both federal and provincial administrations. These are only cited as illustrations of a number of fields of endeavor in which co-ordination of effort by a merger of duplicated services would not only bring about greater efficiency but would also save considerable expense to the taxpayers.

It is true that in connection with these and other activities in the same category objection might be raised that dual services are essential because of the limitations of legislative competence, but if that is the sole barrier in the way of economy, then necessary legislative authority to disperse the difficulty should be sought and doubtless could be secured if a spirit of true co-operation on the part of all concerned is evidenced.

In the matter of sources of revenue also there is duplication which should be eliminated by a better defined allocation of spheres of taxation as between the several governing units. There should not, for instance, be two income taxes with two sets of costly machinery to gather the same type of tax from the same taxpayers, necessitating a double expenditure.

In pre-war and pre-depression years the fields of taxation were fairly well defined and understood and governments, in those days, confined their revenue collection efforts within well defined channels. First departures from recognized practice and prerogative came with the emergency demands of the war and subsequently, as financial and economic stringency became more severe, governments were loath to abandon what they had gained.

On the contrary, the practice of encroaching on one another's sources of income assumed serious proportions as the level of the water in the well declined and the demand for more and more water grew with greater intensity.

With this situation confronting them, the participants in the conference will face a difficult task. While, no doubt, many suggested methods for replenishing depleted income will be offered, first thought probably will be given to conservation of the existing resources, and one of the most practicable means of doing this will be to stretch the tax dollar by eliminating duplication. This can be done, not only without impairing the services involved but should result in improving them and at a lesser cost.

Built Himself A House

Russian in Montreal Found He Had Broken Law

Cold weather was coming on and Ucanec Vinchuk, 50, had no place to sleep. So Ucanec, a native of Russia, picked himself out a spot on the side of Mount Royal in Montreal, cut all the wood he needed from the trees on the mountain, and built himself a nice comfortable shack to spend the winter. Everything was going fine until two husky police constables hustled Vinchuk off to court on a charge of desecrating the park. Recorder F. Semple allowed him to go on condition he demolish the structure.

Finds Blindness No Handicap

War Veteran Has Developed Memory To Remarkable Extent

Captain Gerald Lowry, a blinded veteran of the World War, recently was one of the champion pair at the British Bridge League Congress at Harrogate, England. His partner was a woman. Not only did they win but they were always the first pair to finish their hands.

Blindness has its compensations. Nature to some extent redresses the balance by developing other faculties. Captain Lowry is a remarkable example of overcoming the handicap and lives a more active and normal life than most people. He has developed his memory to such an extent that when a friend whispers the designations of his cards to him he remembers them throughout the game and where he has arranged them. When he has to play dummy, the cards are named to him and he remembers them, too. The rest is easy. During the Harrogate tournament he played 32 calls and never forgot a card.

Captain Lowry before the war was an ardent golfer and amateur boxer. He still plays golf and boxes. He tees his own ball and drives by instinct. His ends tell him where his ball lies and where he should hit it, and he never misses. He also learned osteopathy and has built up one of the most lucrative practices in London. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Began In Ice Age

Scientists Believe Recent 'Quake' Originated 25,000 Years Ago

Persons whose sleep was interrupted by the recent earthquake may blame it on the great Ice Age.

It is at least 25,000 years since the Ice Age ended, scientists estimate, but it was these same scientists who fixed its guilt.

Dr. L. C. Conant, director of the Cornell University seismological station, explained the general theory of earthquakes in the northeast is the earth is gradually recovering from the burden of a sheet of ice one to two miles thick.

"The melting of this tremendous glacier," he said, "took a tremendous pressure off the earth's crust. Every once in a while the earth stretches back a bit, moving just a trifle upward and northward. As a matter of fact, our instruments indicated there was a slight tilt to the north."

Science Tackles Lipstick

Produce Miracles With The Aid Of Delicate Scales And Chemical Reactions

As the result of exhaustive laboratory experiment, chemists have succeeded in reducing lipstick manufacture to an exact science. The relation of the temperature of the lips, the degree of moisture and the influence of fats are now expressed in scientific equations.

The bloom of human lips, long celebrated in song and story, has been accurately measured with the aid of delicate scales and chemical reactions. The new scientific lipsticks produced in German laboratories and recently demonstrated at the Leipzig fair, are said to be contact proof, moisture resisting and to assure a uniform appeal for days on end.

Bigger Braille Library

Books Are Large And More Space Is Required

The rebuilding of part of the National Library for the Blind, in Great Smith-street and Turf-street, Westminster, England, which has now been completed, provides extended accommodation for about 250,000 Braille volumes, together with up-to-date facilities for receiving and despatching books and music on loan to blind readers in the British Isles. Considerable storage space is required in a library of this kind, as an average Braille volume measures 14 inches by 11 inches, and weighs five pounds.

The number of volumes circulated averages 3,200 per day—Overseas Daily Mail.

Cannot Get Italian Marble

League of Nations' sanctions against Italy have created an unusual situation in connection with the new League palace which was scheduled to be occupied by November. Most of the Rose marble used in construction of the palace comes from Italy, and much of it is still due to arrive. League sanctions prohibit the reception of goods under existing contract, so the League must look for its marble elsewhere.

Reform In Examinations

President Of University Of Alberta Would Make Entrance Less Rigid

Entrance examinations to the University of Alberta were in the process of being made less rigid and formal, Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the university, told 200 southern Alberta high school teachers in an address. He called the final examinations "the bugbear of Alberta teachers."

Reform in examinations would be directed towards leaving the teachers free to express themselves individually and then giving some fundamental, broad test to students matriculating from high school to university, Dr. Wallace said.

"We are trying to achieve the aim at the university that every examination paper set shall have one or two questions which cannot possibly be answered by memorizing notes," he continued.

The university president read as an example of the type of examination he was proposing a set of four examinations presented by Alberta University authorities to determine a scholarship winner last year. They included general examinations to test knowledge in the fields of English, history, science and mathematics, having none of the formal type of examination question.

Expression of the teachers' personality must be made easier, Dr. Wallace declared, and lessening of the strict examination rules would be the most effective method of accomplishing this end.

All types of political and social theories should be taught in school, Dr. Wallace asserted, but teachers should keep their own personal bias on such subjects in the background.

Would Conserve Game Birds

Visitor To Alberta Advocates Hunting With Hawks

Alberta offers an ideal place for the ancient and honorable art of falconry—the hunting of game birds with hawks—according to Capt. Luff Meredith, of New York.

First man to fly falcons in Alberta, Capt. Meredith was in Calgary after a visit to the Rosebud district, where he flew five birds—one an Alberta goshawk. He did not hunt game birds with his hawks, but flew them loose after pigeons.

The falconer advocates his chosen sport as a means of conserving game birds, at the same time aiding in the extermination of birds of prey such as crows and magpies.

"I believe the sport would be a great conservator of game birds in the west," he declared. "Falconry should be an entire party can share in the thrills of hawking."

If hawks were used generally instead of guns, the death among game birds would be cut to about one-tenth, he said.

Would Make Effort

Frederick the Great was very proud of his tall grandsons. One day, says the Christian Science Monitor, when he was reviewing them, he was accompanied by Sir Robert Sutton, whom he asked if he thought an equal number of Englishmen could best them. "Sir Robert ventured to assert that," replied Sir Robert, "but I know that half the number would try."

Case Is Unique

John Timiko of New Toronto went to work at a factory with a clean conscience recently—he paid back $12.40 relief money he received in 1934 when he was sick and out of work. Relief officials said it was the first case of its kind in the history of the town.

Cattle Exports To U.S.

117,000 Head Shipped From Canada For First Ten Months

Approximately 100,000 head of heavy cattle have been exported from Canada to United States in the first 10 months of this year. Figures to the end of October reveal 117,000 head have gone over and it is estimated that 17,000 were calves. U.S. tariff on live cattle is three cents a pound when the animal is over 700 pounds and 2½ cents when below that weight. So a 1,100-pound steer would meet a customs duty of $33.

The year has witnessed an entire reversal in the export trade in Canadian cattle. Last year nearly all Canadian cattle exports for the first 10 months went to the United Kingdom. The total shipments were 46,500. For the corresponding period this year they were 6,500 whereas the shipments to United States jumped from 4,700 cattle and calves last year to 117,000 this year.

The reason for the shift was the shortage of beef cattle in the United States and relatively lower prices in United Kingdom market.

1935 Tobacco Crop Valued At $8,000,000

Flue-Cured Tobacco Industry In Ontario But Scientific Losses In Value It looks as if the $8,000,000 valuation put upon the Ontario flue-cured tobacco crop by the experts will be exceeded by the value of the actual purchasing made by Canadian and British manufacturers within the past few days. Yet it is only a few years since tobacco-growing in Canada was practically limited to a few farmers raising it for personal use or for a limited local market. Now approximately 30,000 acres of the best soil in Southern Ontario are almost exclusively devoted to the growing of tobacco leaf in a scientific way, this year's crop amounting to 25,000,000 pounds and having a selling value $8,000,000 in excess of the crop return of 1934. The finest cigarettes and other tobacco products in Canada incorporate Canadian tobacco in large and increasing quantities, where, hitherto, American and other tobaccos had been used, while the Canadian leaf also has an excellent market in Great Britain in competition with foreign leaf.

The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, which buys a great part of the Canadian crop, has had much to do with the great strides taken by the tobacco-growing districts because it has had a policy for years of trying to encourage domestic production. First, however, it was necessary to gradually teach growers how to grow in order to meet public tastes long accustomed to foreign leaf. The company, at its own expense, imported cultivation experts, brought in the necessary plants for experimentation, made its own chemical and other researches of the soil, of moisture, and other conditions contributory to the best grades of tobacco, taught the grower on his own land by introducing experimental plots, and in other ways interested him in improving and enlarging his crop for the uses of the domestic market. It also illustrated to him the precise processes by which tobacco and cigarette material might be developed in a profitable way. This and the researches of government experts, combined largely to producing the present condition, and the creation from a small and unmarketable crop, a large and marketable crop, valued at more than $8,000,000 a year.

The official edict has gone forth that the new styles for the ultra fashionable gowns will not embrace any wasp waists. There will, though, be a sting in the prices.

The Newest Inventions

Many Queer Things Shown At Exhibition In London

Among the things displayed at the International Exhibition of Inventions at London were: A hair-cutting apparatus with rubber protections which permits milady to sleep while her hair is being "set." A double-pronged toasting fork which makes two pieces of toast where only one was made before. A powder compact combined with a hanger to be worn like a wrist watch.

An attachment for a train or automobile window which improves the view of the passing scenery.

A protector for a trunk or suitcase during travelling. It bites a strange hand.

A "mechanical artist" takes photographs and then automatically chisels out a complete bust in stone in a short period.

London's Debt To Thames

City Is In Real Sense Founded On Ships

Its growth into the largest city of the country and of the world is owed by London to many historical accidents and to one very important fact—its geographical position. The rest of government might have been elsewhere and London might have had to share its political ascendancy with Winchester or New York. But it was almost inevitable that a large trading community should be established around the lowest bridge on the Thames, which flows into the narrow seas heading to the Continent and to the world. The Thames is the root cause for London's existence, and the city is in a real sense founded upon ships.—V.L.A. Monthly.

Must Be The Climate

A report from Fort Erie, Ont., of a lemon nine inches in circumference growing on a plant in a home there is a "small pot" story, Mrs. J. D. Gillock of Calgary, claims. She said she has a lemon tree that last year produced a lemon 17½ inches in circumference from which she made two pies and two glasses of lemonade. At present there is on the tree a green lemon, still growing, which measures 1½ inches in circumference.

A United States government scientist has advanced a theory that explosions in city sewers are caused, not by sewer gas, but by exhaust gas from automobiles, which is heavy and sinks into sewers.

Fascist Grand Council In Historic Session Denounces Sanctions

Rome.—The Fascist grand council, headed by Premier Mussolini, in a historic session early Sunday denounced League of Nations sanctions as "a vain attempt to humiliate" Italy and called upon the entire nation for its "most implacable resistance."

As new troops were called to the colors and while thousands cheered Il Duce from the Piazza Venezia outside, Italy's supreme executive body gathered to glorify the "war of revenge" in Ethiopia and congratulate the expeditionary force in its advance.

It called for a huge national demonstration of patriotic resistance, to sanctions. It convoked 94 provincial committees of women, who must be the spearhead of a state of virtual war-time rationing.

A war office decree called to the colors troops from nine different military classes.

Italian retaliation to league sanctions already has taken shape.

Drastic cuts have been made in normal imports of 7,500,000,000 lire (about $600,000,000) annually. What remains of foreign trade will be handled under these three rules:

1. There will be "eye to eye" reprisals. Italy will reply to each of the sanctionist countries with identical measures.
2. There will be curtailment of all but the vital necessities from any country to save foreign exchange.
3. Trade will be diverted to Italy's "friends" among the nations, with an eye to future commerce after the war is over.

Complete control of foreign business has been given to a three-man "Sovrintendenza," or superintendence. Licenses for foreign exchange must be had from this body, and its authority is absolute.

Permit Not Renewed

Correspondent For Nazi Newspaper Cannot Stay In England

London.—Leopold von Hoesch, German ambassador to London, called at the foreign office for an explanation of the non-renewal of the permit to stay in England of Dr. H. D. Thost, whom the British press generally considers liaison officer for Adolf Hitler.

It was officially stated Dr. Thost's permit was not renewed "in the public interest." No protest or representations had been made, it was said.

Dr. Thost's announced post was that of correspondent for the Nazi newspaper Der Angriff. He left by planes for Berlin.

To Be Deported

Man And Woman, Held At Request Of British Authorities, To Be Returned To England

Quebec.—Deportation to England was ordered by Canadian immigration officials here for the man and woman held here at the request of British authorities under suspicion of complicity in the $20,000 jewel theft from the London home of the Earl of Fortarlington on Nov. 3.

The deportation order was announced on conclusion of an official enquiry into the couple's right of entry into Canada. The chief immigration officer at Quebec stated the pair were considered undesirable.

Says Mining Industry Has Been Held Up By Heavy Taxation

Vancouver.—Development of the mining industry in Canada has been slowed up by heavy taxation, J. Y. Murdoch, president of Noranda Mines Ltd., told delegates to the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Mr. Murdoch explained he did not wish to convey the impression that if relief is not granted mines will quickly dwindle into insignificance.

"But I do definitely wish to say," he declared, "that the lives of our existing mines will be considerably shortened, and the probability of finding new ones to replace them will be materially lessened."

"All will agree," he continued, "that Canada is a young country with magnificent potential mineral resources, but it must be significant

Food Supplies Available

Manitoba Farmers In Crop Failure Area Receive Help

Winnipeg.—Food supplies to replenish lean larders in a triangular community affected by crop failure on the northwestern shores of Lake Winnipeg were ready for shipment last week. Relief officials were busy engaged in a check with municipal officials to ascertain further needs.

"The government of Manitoba would undertake that no person would go hungry," Hon. W. R. Clubb, Manitoba minister of public works, told a delegation from the federal constituency of Selkirk. Municipal officials declared a large number of farmers were without enough to eat.

The district affected includes the rural municipalities of Gimli, Birtsmore, Armstrong, Ethelbert, Colwell and Rockwood. Majority of the farmers cultivate small parcels of land to milked farming. They grow only enough wheat to supply themselves with flour.

Check Wheat Board Work

Meeting Of Sub-Committee Was Merely General Survey

Ottawa.—Checking work on the Canadian wheat board, a sub-committee of the cabinet given direct jurisdiction over activities of the body held a lengthy meeting. The conference was described as a general survey.

There was no intention to force Canadian wheat on the market even at sacrifice prices, it was said following the sitting. Minimum price for No. 1 Northern at Fort William was fixed at 87½ cents a bushel as one of the first official acts of the wheat board which was named early last summer.

All heading departments closely allied with the wheat industry, Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce, is chairman of the sub-committee, with Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, and Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, as associates.

Places Ban On Smoking

Employees Of Social Credit Government Must Obey Order

Edmonton.—Smoking by provincial government employees in office hours is banned under an order issued by the new Social Credit government. The order, which is signed by A. L. Sweeney, civil service commissioner, and which applies to all workers in the legislative buildings, also prohibits loitering in corridors or washrooms, while employees must remain at their work until the quitting bell rings.

Officials point out that an order-in-council passed in 1920 imposed a ban on smoking and laid down certain rules regarding the conduct of employees, but that it has not been generally observed.

Judge For Seventh Year

Chicago.—For the seventh year, Walter Biggar of Dalbeattie, Scotland, will preside as judge of the international livestock exposition, it was announced. Biggar, a noted livestock authority, will begin judging when the exposition starts on Nov. 30.

Air Route Over Rockies

Pass In Northern British Columbia Discovered As Ideal

Vancouver.—A 100-mile-wide gap in Canada's towering western mountain ranges was described as near perfect for a trans-Canada air route by Dr. Charles Cammell, federal deputy minister of mines, told delegates of the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

He discovered it during his recent aerial tour of northern British Columbia, southeastern Yukon and the region from the Mackenzie district to the Arctic ocean.

Far up in British Columbia's hinterland close to the borders of the Yukon and the Northwest Territories, the Rocky Mountain range pinches out and between there and the start of the Mackenzie range is the gap which is the only wide opening of the Canadian cordillera, Dr. Cammell said.

It offers far less hazardous flying conditions than any other gateway to the coast, he said, not only because of its width but because it has from 1,000 to 1,700 feet less altitude than other mountain passes, and in addition is of a flat plateau nature with easily adaptable landing features.

In addition to his important exploration of hitherto unknown territory, Dr. Cammell explored the myth of the so-called tropical valley in the Liard river district.

"I've been there in winter and in summer and there certainly is no indication of tropical climate or vegetation," he said. "True, there are a number of hot springs, some of which do not freeze over in temperatures of 30 degrees below zero, but they have no effect on the climate. They do affect the vegetation to a certain degree, however, and the grass grows as high as seven feet with other vegetation corresponding to luxuriant."

Seek Further Loan

Alberta Government Needs Funds For November Financing

Edmonton.—Federal loan of $2,000,000 to carry the Alberta government until the end of November if the province's general application for financial assistance cannot be submitted to Ottawa before the December provincial conference on Dec. 9, has been applied for, Premier Aberhart said.

"We have made this proposal to Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance. There has been no reply yet," said the premier.

The Alberta government is anxious to have an earlier conference with the Dominion in order to submit its refinancing proposals, which also involve a refunding scheme. As the Ottawa conference was postponed, the province faces the problem of handling this month's financing.

Record Flight

Jean Batten Crosses Ocean In Thirteen Hours

Pernambuco, Brazil.—New Zealand's young and adventurous girl flyer, Jean Batten, stepped from her aeroplane at Natal, being the first of her sex to fly alone across the South Atlantic.

She flew 1,281 miles from Thies, French Senegal. Her time of 13 hours and 15 minutes for the ocean hop bettered the solo record set by the Spaniard, Compo, of 16½ hours.

The youthful flyer, who took off from Lympe airport near London, also broke the record set by Capt. James Molison of 82 hours and eight minutes from Lympe to Natal. She made the flight in 61 hours 15 minutes.

SIR BASIL BLACKETT

One of the most eminent of British financial experts, who was killed in Germany when a train struck his automobile. He visited Canada in 1932.

British Elections

Women Candidates Fare Badly In Voting Returns

London.—Women fared badly in the British election. Of the 60 running, 29 heard their immediate political destiny announced as returns came in from ridings in which votes were counted and only three could look forward to saying "Mr. Speaker!"

For all three it was an old story. Viscountess Astor won Plymouth Sutton with ease, though her 1931 majority of 10,204 was reduced to 6,097 as her Labor opponent, G. Ward, cut into the Conservative vote.

The others also were members of the last house—Mrs. Florence Horsburgh, Conservative, who shares Dundee with Dingle Foot, Liberal; and Miss Irene Ward, who held Wallaseid, also for Conservatives.

Miss F. E. Scarborough, grand opera singer, failed to "sing her way" into the commons as she intended.

Among others who lost out were Miss Susan Lawrence, well known Laborite, in Stockton.

Canadian Wheat Board

John I. McFarland May Continue As Head

Ottawa.—Reports here say John I. McFarland may continue as head of the Canadian wheat board. While the future of the board is a matter which has not been considered finally by the new administration, it has been understood he likely would be asked to continue and in this event he would remain long enough to bring his marketing policy to a conclusion.

Named last August, the other members of the board are D. L. Smith, vice-chairman, and H. C. Grant, all of Winnipeg. So far at any rate no requests for resignations have been sent to Mr. McFarland's associates, it was stated.

Value Of Education

Theory That There Has Been Too Much Education Is Termed False

Worcester, N.S.—The theory that too much education had been one cause of the depression was termed "false" and "stupid" by Dr. H. M. Tory, former president of the National Research Council of Canada, in receiving an honorary degree of doctor in civil law from Acadia University.

"As people rise in intelligence," he said, "so rises the state." He declared modern science had created far more jobs than it had destroyed.

Tales Of Heroism

43 Persons Rescued From Shipwreck By Destroyer

Manila.—How survivors sang on wave-lashed rocks to keep up their spirits as they saw comrades die was told here when the destroyer Perry docked with 43 persons rescued from boiling seas where the freighter Silverhaze crashed.

Tales of heroism and horror revealed one woman victim went insane before drowning and that the vessel's missing captain surrendered his life belt to a crew member, then disappeared while trying to save his pet dog.

Bodies of two of the disaster's four victims were brought here by the destroyer. Practically all the survivors were suffering from exposure or minor injuries and two crew members who contracted pneumonia were rushed to hospitals.

The vessel, carrying five passengers and a crew of 40, crashed while en route here from San Francisco, but all survivors were rescued by rafts.

On these, the survivors floated out to where rescuers from the Perry and the destroyer Bulmer could pick them up.

Other survivors told how Capt. H. A. Lennard surrendered his life belt to an unprotected crew member as the last raft was ready to leave the rock for the rescue craft, 1,000 feet away.

When all others were aboard the raft, the captain tied his small dog around his neck and plunged into the water. He swam a short distance, but the dog's weight apparently was too much, and both disappeared in the turbulent waters of San Bernardino straits.

Landed Passengers Safely

Pilot Suffered Heart Attack But Stuck To Control

Bakersfield, Calif.—Captain Donald Buckman, 34, United States army pilot, won and lost an air dash against death when he safely landed three passengers at the airport here, only to collapse and die a few minutes later. Flying from March field, Captain Buckman apparently was seized with a heart attack as he raced through the air. Sticking to the control, he brought the plane down without mishap at Kern airport, and then disclosed to field attaches that he felt ill. He died 20 minutes later.

National Government To Have A Good Working Majority

London.—The National government will have a good working majority in the next parliament. While Labor gained and the huge Conservative majorities of 1931 went crashing down, the government still retained sufficient seats to make its position reasonably secure.

Labor trailed with less than half the governmental total, while the opposition Liberals were routed, their leader, Sir Herbert Samuel, and their two chief whips going down to defeat.

Sixty-seven former Labor M.P.'s who lost their seats in 1931 were included in the results of these 37 will return to parliament, 30 being defeated. Labor's strength appeared to be midway between that of 1929, when it was strong enough to form a government with Liberal support, and 1931, when it was overwhelmed by the National government parties.

The defeat of Sir Herbert Samuel marked the general rout of the opposition Liberals, who left the government three years ago in protest against the Imperial economic agreements. Those who stayed with the government as Liberal Nationals fared better.

Many Labor veterans, defeated in the avalanche of 1931, return to the next parliament at the expense of Liberals, Conservatives and National Labor. Among them are J. R. Clynes, former home secretary, A. V. Alexander, former first lord of the admiralty, who charged the government during the campaign with misrepresenting the strength of the navy, H. B. Lees-Smith, former post-

Washington.—Canada held the spotlight in Washington when Prime Minister Mackenzie King signed the reciprocal trade treaty which places the trade between the two countries on a mutual basis for the first time in nearly three-quarters of a century.

Led by President Roosevelt in mutual expressions of hope, goodwill and amity as between nations, Mr. King and Secretary of State Hull wrote their names on two buff-colored, bound volumes of the official text, while a dozen news cameramen recorded the historic incident.

President Roosevelt and almost his entire cabinet looked on while the signing took place. The ceremony was in the circular executive office of Mr. Roosevelt in the administration wing of the White House.

Signing of the treaty brings to a conclusion negotiations opened last January and mooted much earlier. The negotiations were suspended during the course of the Canadian general election but actively resumed two weeks ago and rushed to a conclusion by the visit of Mr. King to Washington.

Recalling that the treaty "places the trade relations between the two countries on a basis of mutual agreement for the first time since 1866," President Roosevelt said it was an historic occasion. "I am happy," he said, "to have a part in removing this anomaly in the relations between the two countries which are united by so many bonds of friendship and common heritage."

Mr. King said the treaty would not only benefit North America but, "all the world will gain from greater trade on this continent. The agreement, I am confident, will confer substantial benefits alike on the producers and consumers of both countries while safeguarding every essential interest."

Secretary Hull, after reviewing briefly the rise and fall of trade between Canada and United States, said:

"While many other parts of the world are slipping in the direction of economic suicide, the trade agreement between our two countries marks an outstanding step in the direction of economic sanity."

Research Library Closed

Montreal.—Without financial support for the past two years, the Gest Chinese Research Library, considered one of the finest of its kind in the world, has been permanently closed to the public. It was unofficially announced the library would be placed in storage immediately.

The industrial districts showed a curious swing in political fortunes. All of Birmingham's 12 divisions remained solidly Conservative, but Labor captured four of Manchester's 10 divisions.

Social Credit's first venture into British elections was unsuccessful. H. C. Bell losing his deposit in the Erdington division of Birmingham, Reginald Kenney, running as "National Divided" candidate, suffered the same fate in Bradford North.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"THE shades of night were falling fast,
As through an Alpine village passed—
A lad, who bore mid snow and ice,
A banner with the strange device
'EXCELSIOR!'"

ALMOST everyone is familiar with the poem describing this young man who would not be daunted by difficulties and dangers, but pressed on towards the goal he had set for himself. It occurred to the writer in thinking of a suitable topic to lead off this column.

THERE is something inspirational about it. When setbacks tend to discourage, when one has a fit of the "blues," it is well to remember that only weak people are governed by circumstances, while others of a more courageous nature will govern the circumstances. An amusing story has often been told of a frog falling into a jar of milk. Escape up the sides of the jar was impossible, but the frog didn't just allow himself to drown. He just kept on kicking and milling around in that milk till he had it churned into butter, and eventually hopped out. The story has a moral.

CONDITIONS are improving. We have become accustomed to the change since 1929, which year terminated a highly speculative era in which many people were brought to the realization that gambling in any shape or form is a losing game except for racketeers and sharks. Things considered luxuries twenty years ago are now looked on as necessities, but the majority have not increased their earning power sufficiently to pay for them. High pressure salesmanship and a desire to own something as good as Neighbor So-and-So causes many to mortgage the future to the limit, and if an interval of slack or part-time work intervenes, the instalment buyer is immediately in difficulties. It is just as true to day as when Mr. Micawber admonished the young David Copperfield on the evils of spending more than you earn, even though Micawber himself was always in that category of ever present financial difficulties. People know the evils but still allow themselves to become victims of extravagance. However, every man is captain of his own fate, or thinks he is.

"IT IS not laziness to get 2 x 4 brains to do details so your 8 x 10 brain can have time for things the two-by-fours couldn't do," remarks an exchange. "Generals don't dig ditches, it would be criminal if they did and thereby let the whole campaign suffer."

"PUBLICITY is the dictator's worst enemy." That is why people of demagogic tendencies abuse and vilify newspapers which express opinions contrary to their's. People should be thankful that we have a free and untrammelled press to give more than one side of a story. There are some so-called newspapers which could not exist without funds contributed by the cause which they champion. An example of this is the U.F.A. weekly paper, which since the former government was defeated, had dropped from 12 and 16 pages to 8 pages. Propaganda newspapers give only one viewpoint; the view of that which supports them.

DELEGATES attending a convention of mining executives from all parts of the Dominion wind up their meetings in Vancouver by making a visit to Crows Nest mining areas. They see something of the extensive development of these bituminous fields in the past quarter century, and the fact is impressed on them that here is an industrial field with enormous potentialities in the years to come. They came, they saw, and left with knowledge that the Crows Nest Pass coal fields represent vast wealth, and avenues for gainful employment. In Coleman alone, a bi-monthly payroll of $100,000 is something which many larger centres envy, and we in close contact with the industry sometimes fail to appreciate the value of the industry to the province and the Dominion.

"Great men are always willing to listen—even to things they already know. That's partly how they became great—getting many slightly different slants on very old problems."

Five weeks to Christmas.

Entering the arena on Monday morning one was met by the fresh smell of paint. On making investigation we came upon Alex. Easton in one of the dressing rooms skillfully painting the walls and completely oblittering the eye-sore of numerous initials burned and painted on the walls. Old boards have been replaced by new and the full force of the hose has removed the accumulation of dirt and dust during the past summer.

British-Israel Meeting Hears Mr. Ashley-Cooper

On Friday evening Mr. Ashley Cooper of Vancouver addressed the local branch of the British Israel Association on "The Economics of the Bible." He stated we are descendants of the Lost Ten Tribes of Israel who were expelled from Samaria. They could be traced through Bible history as to where they went. The British people, people of the United States and the Scandinavian people were descended from the lost tribes.

The study of British Israelism is turning many people back to the Bible. We have over-production and on the other hand people nearly starving. The manufacturers were taking advantage of the machine to replace labor, and we have a hackneyed money system. Some believe in every new leader who arose and never gave God a thought.

Israel is scattered among the nations of the world because they did not obey God's laws. The present financial system is tottering to its fall, for the bankers are carrying out the laws of God.

The common law of England was based on Scriptural teaching, based on the laws of Sinai laid down 600 B. C. Even one of Britain's ancient kings receded the laws of the State to conform with early Christian laws, whereby the State would take care of the fatherless and widows.

The speaker referred to the writings of Karl Marx, which he declared out of date. Huey Long's proposals met with some approval, as did many other new panaceas for relieving poverty, but very little thought was given toward God and his way of solving difficulties.

William Lee was chairman, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. A. S. Partington and the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

The next speaker for Coleman will be a Mr. Graham on Dec. 6, in the United church.

Victoria Rebekah Lodge held a whist drive and dance on Saturday evening, in aid of Woods Home, Calgary. Prizes were won by Mrs. Regner, Mrs. J. Derbyshire, Mrs. I. Neilson and J. Nash. Prize for the novelty dance won by Mrs. W. Raymond and Bert Garrett.

Climbing Out Of Depression

British Dominions Seem To Be Leading The World

Which are the nations who are climbing most rapidly out of the depression? They are the British nations. Canada's trade leaped up 22 per cent. last month. Inspiring news comes also from little New Zealand, where Mr. Coates, the finance minister, boldly states that the Dominion's economic problems are "largely solved". Cuts are being restored, emergency taxes reduced, pensions increased. On top of that Mr. Coates gives a new break to his countrymen. Population of New Zealand, 1,818,000, public works expenditure announced, £5,630,000. That means the inauguration of new boons and amenities for New Zealanders at the rate of £3 10s a head.—London Daily Express.

Saskatchewan Winning In Fight Against Tuberculosis With Aid of Christmas Seals

Definite proof that Saskatchewan is winning out in its fight against tuberculosis is afforded by the steadily decreasing death rate from this disease and the lessened demand for accommodation in the three sanatoria of the province.

A few years ago, with these three institutions operating full capacity, over 100 patients had to be housed in regular hospitals. This total has now been reduced to 20, and within another year, it is confidently anticipated, all tuberculous patients in the province will be housed in the three sanatoria provided for this purpose.

Further, the death rate in Saskatchewan on a per capita basis is lower than in any other province of Canada, and very close to being the lowest in the entire world. Not long ago the death rate from tuberculosis was three in 1,000 every year; the present death rate from tuberculosis in Saskatchewan is one in 1,000 every two years.

The Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League began its fight against the great white plague in 1910 and in 1917, with the co-operation of the Provincial Government, the first sanatorium was erected at Fort Qu'Appelle. Two additional sanatoria have since been provided, one at Saskatoon and another at Prince Albert, with a total bed accommodation of 720.

Another great forward step was taken in 1929 when Saskatchewan, in advance of any other Canadian province or any other nation in the world, adopted free treatment for tubercular people. Funds for the care of the tuberculous sick in these institutions is provided through taxation by the Provincial Government and the urban and rural municipalities.

Preventive Work

The preventive work of the League, financed by the proceeds from the sale of Christmas Seals, is in a large measure responsible for the decrease in the number of cases and in curtailing the spread of the disease. Clinics are held monthly at Regina, Moose Jaw, North Battleford, Swift Current, Yorkton, Canora, Melfort and Tisdale, at which free examination is available for all with symptoms of the disease or who have been in contact with the tuberculous sick. Discovery of the disease in its early stages makes recovery more certain and lessens the period of treatment—thus reducing the burden on the general taxpayer.

All the funds derived from the sale of Christmas Seals are utilized for this preventive work. Last year $2,933 was realized, making possible the carrying out of the following extensive work:

3,117 persons exposed to tuberculosis or being suspected by their doctors were examined at the three sanatoria.

2,846 "contacts" or "suspects" were examined at the regular clinics.

1,257 persons were examined by the travelling doctors from the sanatoria.

510 "contacts," mostly children, were examined by their family doctors.

870 Normal School pupils were examined.

3,871 school children were examined on curves of special areas.

12 babies of mothers with tuberculosis were cared for in the Preventorium. The I.O.D.E. helped with the cost of this.

12,483 A total that is getting larger every year.

This year's Christmas Seals, reproductions of which are shown herewith, are colored red, yellow and blue. They may be used to brighten letters and parcels and their purchase will assist a great and necessary humanitarian cause. Residents of every community in Saskatchewan will receive letters containing sheets of Christmas Seals. Their value is one dollar a sheet—one cent a seal.

The fight against tuberculosis now being waged unceasingly and with such encouraging results, must go on. All can help by purchasing Christmas Seals. Your small contribution, combined with those of the thousands of other good citizens who cheerfully contribute each year to this worthy effort, will assist in still further reducing the mortality from this preventable disease.

Was Entirely Trustworthy

Sir Frederick Ponsonby Given Secret Letters By Kaiser's Mother

Baroness Bismarck of Wismar, better known as Sir Frederick Ponsonby, for 20 years keeper of His Majesty's privy purse, who died a short time ago, had served in the households of Queen Victoria and King Edward and a few of their aides enjoyed greater confidence.

He was descended on his mother's side from the second Earl Grey, author of the Reform Bill of 1832. He was the second son of General Sir Henry Ponsonby, for many years private secretary to Queen Victoria.

He was appointed assistant keeper of Victoria's privy purse in 1894 and there followed a long series of highly confidential posts at Buckingham Palace. When the Empress Victoria, the Queen's daughter, widow of Emperor Frederick, was dying at Friedrichshagen in 1901 she summoned Sir Frederick from London secretly and entrusted to him her private correspondence, saying:

"I do not want a soul, certainly not Wilhelm (her son the Kaiser Wilhelm II.) to know you have got them."

He succeeded in taking to London two large corded boxes and when the Empress died the grounds of the castle were surrounded by cavalry and police white searchers for the letters ranched every room. He kept the letters for 27 years and then decided on their publication "in the interests of historic truth."

When the letters of his mother were published in England in the Fall of 1928 the former Kaiser was reported to contemplate legal action to suppress the book. A few weeks later, however, it was said in Berlin that Wilhelm not only urged the unaltered publication of the letters in German, but had written a 1,700-word introduction to the German edition, the translation to be supervised by Sir Frederick Ponsonby.

Pioneers Honored

Cairn Unveiled By Founder Of First Icelandic Settlement

The dramatic history of Icelandic pioneers who first landed on the shores of Lake Winnipeg in 1875, was fittingly marked 50 years after when a memorial was unveiled at Gimli, Man., by Captain Sigtryggur Jonason, first discoverer of the site of what is now Gimli.

Jonason, approaching his 80th year, brought the first group of Icelandic settlers to Gimli in 1875 from Moorhead, Minn., by way of Winnipeg. The party made the trip in scows constructed in Winnipeg, and sailed down the Red river and along the west shore of Lake Winnipeg to their new home.

The cairn, built of local granite stone, has a 13-ton red granite boulder fixed to the top, symbolizing the lasting qualities of the early pioneers. On the west side of the boulder, engraved in Icelandic and English, is the following inscription: "The first Icelandic settlers arrived here Oct. 21, 1875." The names of the various districts of the first settlement are carried on the reverse face of the cairn.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 24

THE MESSAGE OF HAGGAI

Golden text: I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go unto the house of the Lord. Psalm 122:1.
 Lesson: Ezra 3:1 to 6:22; Psalm 84:1-12; Haggai, Chapters 1, 2; Zechariah 4:1-10.
 Devotional Reading: Psalm 122.

Explanations And Comments

Combating the Mental Attitude of the People, Haggai 1:1-6. Address of the prophet Haggai was made to Zerubbabel, the governor of what was now the Persian province of Judah, and to Joshua, the high priest, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, in the second year of Darius the Persian king, B.C. 520. "It is not the time for us to come, the time for Jehovah's house to be built," the disheartened people were saying, but Haggai was sure that it was time to build, and would have them build. They were waiting for the right time, the psychic moment, as it were, to build, but they had not waited for the time to build their own houses, the prophet reminded them. Some of them had built exceptionally fine houses, paneled with costly cedar, but the site of the house of Jehovah was still lying waste, although they had now been living for 15 years in Jerusalem. The trouble was that they lacked the desire, and Haggai used forcible words to arouse their desire. If they really desired the temple, they would build it. The people had sown much and brought in little. A drought had been upon the land, withering everything (verse 11); they had lacked food and drink enough to satisfy themselves, and clothes enough to keep them warm; and so low were the wages paid that it seemed as if the money was lost as soon as it came, as if it just dropped through holes in a bag. All this was said to satisfy themselves, and clothes enough to keep them warm; and so low were the wages paid that it seemed as if the money was lost as soon as it came, as if it just dropped through holes in a bag.

Yeh looked for much, and so, to the prophet's remedy? He challenged their conscience. "Now, therefore, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your ways," he twice repeats. Consider what you have been doing. All had been zealous about building their own homes, and had given no thought to the house of Jehovah, verse 9. They had only themselves to blame. Yeh looked for much, and so, to the prophet's remedy? He challenged their conscience. "Now, therefore, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your ways," he twice repeats. Consider what you have been doing. All had been zealous about building their own homes, and had given no thought to the house of Jehovah, verse 9. They had only themselves to blame.

The Result of Haggai's Appeal, Haggai 1:12-15. Within three weeks the temple site presented a busy scene, for, inspired by the prophet's words, the governor and the priest and the people all began to work upon the temple building.

Endorses Light Clothing

Welsh Doctor Believes It One Preventive Against T.B.

During a discussion on his annual report, Dr. Milton Jones, medical officer for Llanfyllin rural council, said he found girls under 20 were less susceptible to tuberculosis than boys under 20 and said the reason was that girls wore scanty clothing, which allowed sunlight and fresh air to get at them. Women, too, were less susceptible to tuberculosis than men because they wore less clothing.

When the doctor said that with correct diet nobody need suffer from indigestion a member remarked that doctors suffered from indigestion. Dr. Jones replied that that was because doctors were so often called away from their meals.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR FIRST, MOTHER

Before You Give Your Child an Unknown Remedy to Take

Every day, unthinkingly, mothers take the advice of unqualified persons—instead of their doctors—on remedies for their children.

If they knew what the scientists knew, they would never take this chance.

Rescued People From Flooded District In Montreal

Arthur Ferron, acting district chief of the Montreal fire department, has celebrated the 30th anniversary of his joining the fire fighters. In the years since he joined the brigade he has been repeatedly decorated for brilliant rescue work at bad fires, but his greatest rescue had nothing to do with high energy. In the half light of a below-zero dawn, a three foot water main burst in a crowded Montreal district. The streets were flooded and houses were collapsing when Capt. Ferron and his crew arrived. Despite the imminent danger, however, this veteran smoke-eater rescued two entire families who were on the point of drowning. For his bravery he received the Royal Canadian Humane Society's life-saving medal.

Safety For Pedestrians

Pedestrians who must walk alongside highways at night will find their measure of safety increased if they carry or wear a white object, Key-Stone Automobile Club officials pointed out at Philadelphia. # The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuralgia or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medicine is safe about its safety were correct. Remember this: "Aspirin" is used among the fastest methods discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Boon For Radio Fans Is Seen In New Demonstration

Radio reception free from static even during thunder storms to severe that sparks leap from the antenna wire is the offering of Major Edwin H. Armstrong, professor of electrical engineering at Columbia University.

He demonstrated the new system before the Institute of Radio Engineers in New York. He described the effect as the same as sending one stream of traffic—the static—through an underpass while the desired signals went across the bridge. He said the secret lay in frequency modulation instead of amplitude modulation, the prevailing system.

Mothers Aided by Guide to Better Control of Colds

Practical Plan Is Helping Families Everywhere to Have Fewer, Milder and Shorter Colds.

SIMPLE AND EASY TO FOLLOW

Already, thousands of Canadian mothers are benefiting by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—proving that the Vicks Plan is a practical home guide to fewer and shorter colds.

This common-sense, medically sound Plan represents the 30 years' experience of Vicks Chemists in studying colds. It has been tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use throughout the country.

Here, briefly, are the three simple steps in Vicks Plan:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds
Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help Prevent Many Colds
At the first warning nasal irritation, snifle or sneeze, use Vicks Vapo-Rub—just a few drops up each nostril. Vapo-Rub is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where more colds start. Used in time, Vapo-Rub helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner
If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks Vapo-Rub. Vapo-Rub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster. (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, direct to the inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

What Vicks Plan can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. Directions for following the Plan come in each package of Vicks Vapo-Rub and Vicks VapoVib.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-20, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and she is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and misses the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adams tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help Luke. Luke's leg gets better with Jack away. Nancy finds that she is homesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems to her, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy's parents and friends gave her liberal support for her project for books, and a steerable boat arrived in due course. Father Adams painted a sign for the library, and the boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable. Jack Nelson, Matthew Adams, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthew's uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they call on the bus full of school children, which was stalled across the road with its back wheels resting in a snowdrift. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and do all they can to help. The next morning Jack sets out for help in the blizzard. He succeeds in finding help, and the party of children and Nancy are rescued. As a result of the exposure Nancy's feet are badly frozen and Jack is seriously injured, but both of them recover.

Now Go On With The Story

Nancy started, smiling as she recognized the wife of the health-seeker on the back road, one of the most faithful visitors.

"Come in," she welcomed. "I'm leaving my day after tomorrow, and I'm glad of this chance to say good-bye."

The woman said, as she sat down in the cushioned chair: "That's why I came. I meant to stop at Miss Nelson's, but when I saw these open windows I knew you'd be here. I want to thank you for what you've done for—well, for every one in Pine Ridge, Miss Aladdin." She glanced up, her warm face lighted by a smile, while Nancy realized with something of a shock that this faded woman was quite young, probably not ten years older than herself. "Do you mind my saying, Miss Aladdin?" she questioned a bit shyly. "Sometimes I've almost wondered if that's what you are—a sort of magician who has worked miracles."

Nancy laughed, flushing a little.

"It wasn't a miracle at all, if you mean this library. It was only common sense and a bit of elbow grease!"

"No," answered her caller wisely, "it was more than that. It was thinking how you could make life happier for other folks. It's made all the difference between exile and home, to us!" she added. "My husband's better now, really better; and it's due to nothing in the world but having good books to read—something to take his mind away from himself and all our worries. Is it any wonder we think of you as Miss Aladdin?"

When she was gone Nancy sat there feeling strangely humble, a lump rising in her throat that threatened to grow bigger.

"I ought to have gone to see those people," she said regretfully. "I'll ask Matt to drop in on them some day. Why, the first time that woman came for Aunt Judy! Oh, why does life hurt some of us so cruelly?"

Rising with reluctance, Nancy closed the windows. This was her last visit to the library, for tomorrow she must give to Cousin Columbine, the girl stood for a moment looking off at the mountain, and only she longed to view it once again from the hilltop under the old pine.

"I'll sneak up back of the house," she planned, locking the door. "If Jack sees me he'll want to go along, and somehow I'd rather be alone. I only saw him in the half hour before the Adams came for us. I do hope Matt will have cheered up by evening. I just can't stand the way his eyes look."

By skirting the village it was possible to gain the hilltop unobserved, but it was a steep ascent, and Nancy was breathless when, emerging from the woods, she started toward the ancient landmark. Then, as an animal will stop when suddenly alarmed, the girl stood still. Some one was there, half hidden by the gigantic tree-trunk. How disappointing! Her trust on this wonderful spot must be foregone. She ventured one cautious backward step, but a twig snapped under her foot, and the intruder, almost as startled as herself, turned quickly.

"Oh!" exclaimed Nancy. Her heart was thudding. "I didn't dream—I mean, Matt, I—I thought..."

She gazed, for Matthew had sprung up, an unsmiling Matthew, who said, curiously, she noted, as he came toward her: "Is it you, Nancy, or—or am I dreaming? No, I'm not crazy!" (He smiled a little.) "But I've been lying here for an hour or more wishing I had the power of Aladdin, so I could rub my lamp and—make you appear before me just like this! Is—is it really you?"

Nancy thought, her mouth curving in a smile: "What other fellow in the world would say a thing like that?"

Then with a sudden impulse she stretched out both hands.

"Touch me, and see!"

CHAPTER XXIV.

No use trying; it was simply impossible to sleep. Thus thought Nancy as she turned, and tossed and thumped her unfeeling pillow. The night was weirdly bright, as most nights are in Colorado, and (perhaps because she knew where each one was), those furnishings of the tower room which seemed so depressing eight months before, were dimly visible: the fat infant embroidered on the "aplapher"; the mineral specimen clock which never ticked; the deformed kittens painted in oils; General Grant, and Aurora's month calendar.

"It's surely strange," murmured the girl, "how you get used to things. I don't see that awful embroidered baby any more, and I've grown quite fond of General Grant. It just doesn't seem possible that this is our last night in Colorado, and that to-morrow Jack and I'll be going along somewhere in Kansas. Why, the day we got here, when Cousin Columbine displayed this room so proudly, I thought I couldn't get away from it too soon; and now all I can think of is—suppose we hadn't come!"

About to ponder this awful possibility, Nancy turned again and saw that the door into her brother's room was opening. Said Jack, in muffled, irritated tones: "What the dickens is the matter with you, Nancy? That old bed lets out a groan every time you move, and I'd say you've turned over every three minutes of the last hour. Why don't you go to sleep?"

"Too much to think about," I'm figuring out what would have happened if we hadn't come to Colorado."

"That's easy." Jack seated himself on the foot of the massive bed. He'd be earning my car fares in a broker's office most likely, and you'd be dragging 'round Edgemere, plying yourself and running up the telephone bill by calling your long-distance friends every few hours. Just to kill time. Honestly, sis, can you imagine living out your whole life without having known Cousin Columbine, or the Adams, or—or going through that blizzard and everything? Maybe you'll laugh, but I feel lots older than when we came."

But Nancy didn't laugh. She said thoughtfully: "You seem older, Jack. And I..."

HERE'S The real way TO MAKE BRAN MUFFINS, COOKIES, ETC.

USE Quaker Natural Bran—because it is natural bran especially intended for baking. You'll find it makes better, tastier bread, cakes, etc., emerging from the oven with a rich, nut-like bran flavour. And that you'll love better results because, being natural bran, it mixes better and more lightly with other ingredients.

And what is doubly important Quaker Natural Bran is more economical for baking. Try it—there's a recipe folder and a valuable coupon in every package.

Her self-analysis went no further, and after a moment the boy went on: "The mighty giant old Matt's got back into his stride. All this last week he's looked like a lost dog. I don't believe he's seen a lot of girls, and was sort of scared for fear he'd taken you too—well—seriously."

Matt's such a dandy fellow, Nancy. I'd hate to think he'd fallen for you too hard."

"So I'm not good enough for Matthew Adams?"

Poultry Farm On Skyscraper

Secret Well Guarded By Modern Hotel In Brooklyn

That little tip in the country is no longer the prime necessity of the man or woman who would keep a few, or many, chickens. The day dawns when the great metropolitan parks may control their own egg and boiler supply on the premises, and a Park avenue skyscraper palace may house a thousand millionaires and a hundred thousand fowls and baby chicks, writes J. J. Lawrence in the Sun.

By the same token, the bachelor's penuriousness may have its room for farming—and the whole fascinating business may be a great secret, unguessed at, and not to be told.

There's a mystery in Brooklyn; an appetizing, juicy mystery! The guests in one of the modern hotels on Brooklyn Heights have been a dicker, a-twitter about the surpassing sweet and succulent broilers in the grill room and the breakfast eggs that are just the quintessence of all hen fruit within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

They have begged for some of those eggs and broilers to send to the home folks, in place of orchids or bonbons, and talked about them in lobby and lounge; but they don't know yet—and not even the chef or the waiter knows yet—that they come from above, like manna from the skies—yes, even from the topmost terrace of that same hotel, though never a cackle, crow or peep has been heard in the spacious room, garden or on its terraces.

The writer was the fifth person to be let into the well-guarded secret. He was conducted to a narrow terrace, far above the earth and New York harbor, an appreciable fraction of the distance to the stratosphere; and then the mysterious guide mysteriously pointed out a narrow iron ladder, and your correspondent swarmed up, like a fireman. The owner asserts emphatically that no guests of the hotel have ever suspected the presence of a single chicken on the premises, though the plant has been in operation six months.

Cannot Be Answered

Food For Thought In Child's Question About Speed

The wisest sayings often come out of the mouths of children. A man motoring with his family in the country and discussing with his wife the present-day craze for speed and the disastrous results that so often follow excess of a reasonable rate of travel was interrupted by his little daughter's question:

"What is the speed limit?"

"Thirty-five miles an hour," he answered.

"Then why do they make cars that go faster?"

A separate compartment has been invented to be placed on top of a crowded refrigerator, its contents being cooled with ice cubes made in the refrigerator itself.

Diamond Is Indispensable

Mainly Responsible For High State

It is safe to say the civilization today could not have reached its high state of scientific perfection but for the diamond. Everything nowadays has to be made with an infinitesimal margin of error, and the diamond being the hardest thing in the world, its consequent capacity to resist abrasion makes it of inestimable value in industry. To give you an idea how hard the diamond is, Sir William Crookes once prescribed the following experiment: "On a flattened piece of a conical block of steel place a diamond, then upon it bring down a second cone of steel. On forcing together the two steel cones by hydraulic pressure, the diamond is squeezed into the steel blocks without injuring it in the slightest degree."

The diamond drill is an indispensable tool for mining engineers, for there is no rock or strata which the diamond cannot cut through, and the hardness of the bit makes a clean sequence of the rocks passed available for inspection. The crown of gems for cutting the two-inch hole costs about $5,000.

In other industries the diamond is equally important, as in the manufacture of electrical equipment. Diamond draw plates, used in drawing wire, are used in processes where an accuracy of .0015 millimetres is sometimes necessary.—From the Sphere, London.

Low And High Tides

Bore In Bay Of Fundy Is Highest In World

The lowest tide in half a century was witnessed on October 12 by the people of Lunenburg, N.S. Men in hip boots were able to wade across the bay to Campobello Island, New Brunswick. The following day the waters of the Bay of Fundy rose to an unprecedented height. Boats tied up at wharves were lifted 50 high that their painters had to be cast off. Debris was washed into smoke-houses, and an army of rats were driven from their holes on the waterfront. Extreme low and high tides were also reported from other points along the Maine coast.

The Bay of Fundy has the world's highest and most rapid "bore," the term used for a tidal wave which advances rapidly as a sort of wall into funnel-shaped bays and estuaries. At Chignecto it rises to over 50 feet, with a crest of three to six feet. The bore in the Amazon does not exceed 16 feet, and in the Severn, Trent and Solway Firth it attains a height of only two to three feet.—New York Sun.

Uses Homing Pigeons

School Teacher Finds Them Handy For Sending Messages Home

Each Sunday afternoon homing pigeons fly into the yard of Martin Tucker of Wakefield, Mass., bringing the glad tidings that his school teacher, daughter, Gladys, arrived safely in South Hampton, N.H. Miss Tucker, who spends every week-end with her family found the telephone too expensive and the mails too slow. Homing pigeons, long a hobby of her father, solved the problem.

The pigeons return to the Tucker home in much less time than it takes for Miss Tucker to drive to South Hampton.

Little Helps For This Week

Lift up your heads O ye gates, even lift them up ye everlasting doors, and the King of Glory shall come in. Psalm 24:9.

Fling wide the portals of your heart. Make it a temple set apart. From earthly use for Heaven's employ.

Adorned with prayer, and love, So shall your Sovereign enter in. And new and nobler life begin.

Thou art to know thy soul is the centre, habitation and kingdom of God. That therefore to the end the sovereign King may rest on that throne of thy soul thou oughtest to take pains to keep it clean and peaceable. Clean from guilt and defects, quiet from fears, and peaceable in temptations and tribulations. Thou oughtest then to always keep thine heart in peace that thou mayest keep pure that temple of God, and with a right and pure intention thou art to work, pray and obey as well as suffer whatever it pleases the Lord to send thee without being in the least moved.

Are You Rundown, Tired?

Mr. Mabel Murphy of 115 Westinghouse Ave., Apt. 4, Hamilton, Ont., said: "About a month ago I was terribly run-down, had indigestion, couldn't sleep or eat, lost strength, and my weight fell off 35 pounds. I had finished the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's Sarsaparilla. I felt much better, had more strength and better digestion. Now size, tablets or liquid, $1.35.

Mining Institute Delegates Have Enjoyable Meet

A DINNER and social evening at the Greenhill Grill last evening in honor of visiting delegates returning home from the Vancouver convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy proved very enjoyable. 81 members and guests were present, the latter including members from as far east as Halifax and Montreal. Mr. George Kellock, president of McGillivray Creek Co., presided. The delegates left Vancouver last Saturday, and have visited Trail, Kimberley and Michel on their return east. They were driven from Michel to Blairmore by local members, and leave by train this afternoon for the east. It is hoped to have a more detailed report in the next issue.

Curlers Will Organize Membership Drive

At a meeting of the curling club last evening it was decided to start a membership drive to determine the number of persons desirous of playing so that rinks may be chosen at the next meeting which will be held next Wednesday in the council chamber at 7 p. m. In order to accommodate the players who are at present working on two shifts the schedule will be arranged to suit them so that they may play in the mornings. A new system, that of recording the number of points won each game and totaling them at the end of the competition to determine the winner, thus keep alive the interest of all rinks to the end will be tried.

Curling will commence at the first cold spell.

Tremendous Appreciation

Sun Life Assurance Co. Assets Show Appreciation of Millions Upon Millions of Dollars, Says Financial Post.

As a result of the steady climb in Wall Street prices since last spring to recent record highs for the year, the portfolio of the Sun Life Assurance Company has shown an appreciation of millions upon millions of dollars. Just how well this portfolio was built up can be gauged from the low levels once the market got straightened out. John Manville, of which the company had about 16,000 shares, has come all the way from a low level in March of 38¢ to make a high price of 94¢. General Electric, in which the holdings of the company are over 300,000 shares, has climbed from $20 to close to $40, or practically doubled its value. American Can, of which the company's holdings are about 14,000 shares, in a little over a year has gone from around $80 to within a fraction of $150. The industrials have been the big stocks of this year, but more recently the company's large holdings of public utilities have started to give a better account of themselves. With obnoxious legislation out of the way, it is felt that in succeeding markets public utilities might readily catch up on the advance during the current year in many industrial issues.—The Financial Times.

Canada To Have Streamline Locomotives

Marking the peak of engine development in the fifty years since the driving of the last spike at Craigellachie, the Canadian Pacific Railway has under construction five light-weight locomotives, which are being built to attain a speed of 110 miles per hour. Streamlining and an increased ratio of power to weight and fuel consumption are their outstanding characteristics. Many of the ideas incorporated in these engines are quite new, having been originated by Canadian Pacific engineers under the supervision of H. B. Bowen, Chief of Motive Power and Rolling Stock. In addition, the Company's engineers closely watched experiments made by leading railways of other countries, and have adapted and developed the best features brought out. The new Canadian Pacific engines mark a long step forward in locomotive construction.

The first five engines will be used to improve the Company's passenger service between Montreal and Quebec, and will haul at high speeds trains of new light-weight coaches now being built for the service. They are of 4-4-2 type, with a total engine and tender weight of 430,000 lbs., or about 33 per cent. lighter than engines now running, and designed to do the same relative work. This means a consequent important saving in fuel, water and maintenance. The boilers are of nickel steel designed to stand a pressure of 300 lbs. per square inch, and fittings and appliances are all of the latest type, including super-heaters, feed water heaters, mechanical stokers, roller bearings and tandem connecting rods. They are coal burning, the tenders having a capacity of twelve tons. The tractive effort will be 25,000 lbs.; cylinders 18½ by 28 inches; with the drivers having a diameter of 80 inches. Photographs of a model give a comprehensive idea of the new engines. Inset is H. B. Bowen, Chief of Motive Power, Canadian Pacific Railway.
